

STILL SMILING

LYRICS. Wolfgang Gruter Music: Rudolf Nepix

now what made you think you could take my heart and give nothing in return when you came my way I knew for sure in the end I would have to burn then you watched me lose my ground how could you let me fall and as I was hurt and helpless you looked down and stood so tall

I want you to know that I'm still smiling and while my heart is bleeding it won't bleed for you
I want you to know
that I'm still smiling
somehow I will recover from the impact of your soul who told you I would feel no pain who said I was immune when I was fighting for survival the devil played your favorite tune but now I only hear the silence of an empty night through the mist of my illusion your image signals through the light

so I pack up my things and close the book there's no more looking back every day a new direction I will leave your beaten track but if we ever meet again one promise I can make I will see through your play and the affection that you fake
